piece of demogoguery." He considered it the senators addressing the chair, an Appeal unworthy of congress. He provision and was sharply challenged by Tillman when one of the sharpest conflicts of the session occurred between the two democratic leaders, standing elbow to

The clash came when Mr. Tillman interrupted Mr. Balley.

'An attorney exclusively in the employ of a railroad might," said Mr. Tillman, 'he classed with the other employes, but the attorney who gets a pass and does nothing else but watch juries, round up onventions and do other little odd jobs and never gets any compensation except transportation for himself and his family the man I am after. I do not know what the senstor thinks about it, but I think that class have got no business riding on the railroads at all, unless they pay for it, any more than any other man.

To this Mr. Bailey replied that he did regard such men as attorneys and Tillman proceeded, asking "What about the man who works with his hands and the man who works with his brain, when the man who works with his brain only works little while and is a pettifogger, a trickster and lobbylat? That," he added, "is the man we were after." Mr. Tillman gave evidence from the start of considerable feeling and as he proceeded his manner became more and more intense, until he fairly shouted in Mr. Balley's face as the two men stood facing each other and hear enough each other to touch. Mr. Bailey replied to the last remarks by saying that such a man as the South Carolina senator had described should not be given a pass. We did the best we could, rapiled Mr. Tillman, at the top of his voice. "but there so many lawyers here who stick it out that there is no harm for lawyers to get passes and that lawyers be excepted." By this time Mr. Bailey had become excited and he replied: "There are too many demagogues who are always talking against > Mr. Balley said: Bailey Defends Lawyers.

"The senator from South Carolina has many admirable qualities, but be has got some prejudices that obscure his usual fairness and his usual clearness. I do not know what grude he has down in South Carolina against the lawyers. But what he ought to do and nearly all he needs to do to be one of the most useful senators of this body is to get that cobweb out of his mind. He performs great service, he does it fearlessly and he does it honestly, and the only thing that keeps him from doing it wisely is now and then he vields to this very kind of a prejudice. I have no patience with it myself.

"I think a lawyer, if he is a good one, i as good a citizen as lives beneath the flag. Mr. Tillman replied, declaring his regard for respectable members of that profession, but adding, "I have a most infinite contempt for some of the breed I know.

He quoted Jesus' characterization of lawyers as "hypocrites," and said, "The dirty creatures who run the political conentions are the men whom he would shut off from the pass privilege." The conference report was adopted with-

At 11 o'clock Mr. Scott presented a par tial conference report on the public building bill. He said there were fourteen items of difference between the two houses and added that it would be impossible to complete the work tonight. On motion of Senator Penrose the senate conferees were authorized to add $100,000 to the bill for a public building at Albuquerque, N. M. The senate, after a discussion without action on the La Follette bill limiting trainmen's required hours of labor to sixteen consecutive hours, adjourned at 11:45 p. m. until 10 a. m. tomorrow. At the outset of tonight's session of the senate Mr. LaFollette sought to secure a vote on his bill, but Senators Gallinger Carter, Foraker and McCumber urged de-

Mr. LaFoliette said that if the bill should be defeated he would show that the act is in the face of the recommendations of the Industrial commission, the Interstate Commerce commission and the president of the United States. (From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Ia., June 29 .- (Special.)-George D. Perkins' letter addressed to the other candidates for the republican gubernatoral nomination urging harmony in the republican party in this state and proposing to submit the matter of contested delegations to a commission to be selected by the national republican committee is attracting great attention. Anti-Pass Law Sunday. The anti-pass law in this state goes into effect Sunday, Saturday, June 30, being the last day on which a public official can legally ride on a pass. Ratiroads are sending out to persons who have previously ridden on passes requests that they return their passes, which the roads promise to renew if they are not excluded by the law. The law prohibits giving passes to any public official, delegates to party conventions, members of political committees state or federal jurdre.

May Prohibit Taking Notes. The Insurance commission had no wit nesses before it today and spent the time discussing the problem of whether or not to prohibit insurance companies taking notes in payment for insurance premiume It was maintained by Chairman Jamison in the discussion that notes are frequently not paid, and this causes a loss which must be borne by the policyholders who pay cash. Representative Kendall asserted that the number of notes lost is so small that they are not worth considering. There has not been a suit on a promissory note in five years in Monroe county," said Mr. Kendall, "and not a suit for foreclosure of a mortgage in ten years. Permission to give a note allows persons to get insurance who could not otherwise and is a business proposition. The losses are not worth considering." Representative

Clary agreed with Mr. Kendall. Hendquarters Opened. The local committee on arrangements of the national encampment of the Army of in the Commercial club rooms with Colonel Claims to Be Thaw. "I'm Harry Thaw," calmly announced a young man to Deputy Sheriff Ness at the ourt house today. The young man is now locked up in the county jail awaiting the action of the Insanity commission. All efforts to ascertain his name failed, for the young man stoutly maintains that he is Harry Thaw and declares that he voluntarily gave himself up because he shot Stanford White for insulting his wife. It is not known but that the young man may be suffering from too much liquor. He is about 25 years old and every effort to persuade him that he is anyone but Harry Thaw has proven useless.

President to Issue Proclamation at Once Explaining Its Provisions.

Inspection and Regulation So Thorough as to Quiet for All Time Any Fears Regarding American Meat Products.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, June 29 .- (Special Telegram.)-So soon as the agricultural bill becomes a law, which will be tonight or to morrow, all differences having been cleared up in the final conference report, it is the intention of President Roosevelt to issue a proclamation staring the scope and extent of the meat inspection law with a pledge that every packing house where inspection is carried on must enforce the sanitary conditions provided for in the bill This action was ascertained today by both Senntor Millard and Congressman Pollard, who called on the secretary of agriculture with a view of learning the intent of the department when the bill is signed by the president. It is also Secretary Wilson's intention to make a positive public announcement concerning the meat industry and that the government will immediately adopt measures to put in force a system. of the most rigid inspection of every packing house in the country, requiring improved modern sanitary conditions, and also that constant inspection of the products of the packing houses will be enforced. To further strengthen the government position, rigid day and night inspection will be at once begun and every effort put forth to re-establish the faith of our people as well as of the foreign nations in the wholesomeness and purity of our meat products.

Kennedy Carries His Point. Congressman kenneny aid business to-day. As a result of his speech on postal savings banks and which has created & great deal of interest in congress, he had passed today a resolution requesting the secretary of state to call upon our diplomatic representatives in foreign countries to secure from the several governments to which they are accredited statistics on postal savings banks, which shall not only show their deposits, the number of depositors, but the amount of interest paid, bringing the same down to the latest possible date.

He also secured the passage of a bill exending the time for the construction of the bridge across the Missouri river at South Omaha.

President Praises Congress. Congressman Hinshaw took leave of the president today. Incident to the leave taking and exchange of compliments Mr. Hinshaw presented the name of Walter D. Hill of his district for forest supervisor. Mr. Hill is 51 years of age, and the maximum age for forest supervisors has been fixed at 40 years, but the law so reads that the president may waive the age limit in deserving cases. As Mr. Hill is an efficient man but above the age, Mr. Hinshaw asked the president to make an exception in Mr. Hill's behalf. This the president refused to do, solely upon the ground that if he made an exception in one case he would be overrun with requests in like cases and he decided, therefore, to strictly follow the letter of the law. Incidentally the president told Mr. Hinshaw that this was the best congress in the history of the government and remedial legislation enacted would redound to the credit not only of the nation, but to the men who assisted in the enactment of this legisla-

Wilson Compliments Pollard. Congressman Pollard was the recipient this evening of a laudatory letter from James Wilson, secretary of agriculture Among other things, Mr. Wilson said: Among other things, Mr. Wison said:
In bidding you goodbye for the summer permit me to express my keen appreciation of the good work in which you have taken an active part during the past session of congress. A man coming to the house of representatives from the farm finds a great field for his activities and one that is not exhausted nor likely to be for some time. You have exercised a good influence on legislation, especially for a man in his first term.

Settlers Want Full Claim Senator Millard has received a petition signed by entrymen in the sand hill country of western Nebraska, who are in the irrigation district covered by the Pathfinder project, praying that their homestead entries of 160 acres be not cut down to eighty or forty acres, as is provided may be done under the reclamation act. Under Section 2 of that act the secretary of the interior may, in his discretion, reduce the size of a homesteady entry to eighty or even trim them down to forty acres. Senator Millard has presented the petition of the Nebraskans to the secretary of the interior. The president has issued an order reserving the northeast quarter of section 24, township 9 north, range 5 east, Black Hills, within the limits of Belle Fourche irrigation project, for the purpose of experimental work in agriculture, under the supervision of the Department of Agriculture, the tract, however, to remain under the general jurisdiction and control of the reclamation service.

Gamble's Men Are Named President Rooseyelt today sent to the senate a number of nominations of postmasters in South Dakota. In every instance Benator Gamble's wishes prevailed in the distribution of this patronage, which indicates that in the immediate future, at least, Gambie will be supreme in suggesting who shall have the offices in South Dakots. At Arlington the president nominated George Reid to be postmaster. This is a reappoint ment. Reid is Gamble's man, while Martin and Burke endorsed James H. Cross. John D. Cotton, Gamble's candidate at Parker, was nominated. Charles F. Hackett was recommended by the congressmen. At Elkton Henry Heltz is reappointed on his record for good service. At Scotland John Reich was supported by Gamble and wins, while P. A. Blins, who had the support of Burke and Martin, loses. At Beresford Robert Z. Bennett is reappointed on his record, and the same condition prevails at Spearfish, John Bell being reappointed. F S. Myers is reappointed at Redfield, Thomas Criseman, the candidate of the congressmen, losing. At Woonsocket George L Fish is reappointed on his record. Minor Matters at Capital.

Judge Kinksid was host at a delightful uncheon today in the restaurant of the house in honor of Hon. Wesley Wilcox and wife of North Platte. A majority of the members of the Nebraska delegation were present to meet Mr. Kinkald's guests. A majority of the Nebraska members have arranged to leave Washington just as soon as the gavel fails tomorrow Among those who have booked their passage west are: Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy and family, Judge Norris and family, Judge Kinksid and Mr. Pollard. Mr. Kennedy having some department matters to attend to, will probably not leave until early the coming week.

O'Neill Rusiness Rouses. O'NEILL, Neb., June 29 .- (Special Telegram.)-One of the most disastrous fires that has visited this city for years broke out in the Bowen livery barn at 8:30 this morning, consuming it and the lumber yard of the Bazelman Lumber company. Sixteen horses were burned in the livery barn and all the buggies and harness. Loss, about $1,500; insurance, $800. The yard of the lumber company joined the barn on the north and despite the heroic efforts of the fire department it was soon seething mass of flames, the entire yard with its contents being destroyed except shout half the coal bins and about 10,000 shingles. A Nebraska Lithia Water.

In placing the natural lithia mineral water on the market, the Shogo Lithia Springs company of Milford has established an enterprise which will no doubt prove beneficial to Nebraskans in two ways: First, it will act as a wide advertising medium for the state, which has heretofore been unable to boast of a natural mineral spring; second, it will give to the residents of this state a pure spring water at reasonable prices, in reach of all classes. The enalysis of this water, as made by the University of Nebraska, shows the followng elements to be present: Lithium chloride, sodium chloride, magnesium sulphate, magnesium bicarbonate, calculm bicarbonate, iron and aluminum exides and silica. The water is bottled in its natural state, or carbonated, as it comes from the rock, and those who have been using the water regularly say that it compares favorably with the most extensively advertised water of today. The success of this undertaking will mean a good thing for Nebraska.
